

English Department
The College of New Jersey
Internal Transfer Application

Students at The College of New Jersey are invited to apply to the English and Journalism/ Professional Writing majors two times during the academic year. The department has created this system for processing internal transfers and double majors so that we can keep better records of our incoming students, fairly match advisers with advisees, and effectively manage our enrollment and course offerings.

This procedure does not apply to students admitted into any of the English majors through the Admissions Office. It only applies to students seeking an internal transfer or the addition of a double major.

Applications to the English Liberal Arts, English Secondary Education, and Journalism/ Professional Writing majors should be submitted by September 15th and February 15th each academic year. (In the event those days should fall on a weekend, we will accept applications on the next business day.)

An application consists of four items:

- 1) A completed Change of Major form (available below)
- 2) A 500-word statement about why you want to be an English or Journalism/ Professional Writing major and why you will be successful in our curriculum. It will be helpful in this statement to discuss your performance in the English/ JPW classes you have already taken or to describe the classes you look forward to taking the most. If English or JPW is going to be a second major (which we encourage), you should explain what you hope it will add to your studies.
- 3) An unofficial transcript printed from PAWS that includes your course work and grades at TCNJ and at other institutions of higher education.
- 4) A brief plan of action: What is your timeline for completing the courses required to complete the major, and how does the major fit into your other academic requirements? You can type out this information in paragraph form or organize it, by semester, in a grid or chart. (Please note: we recognize that your plans will change, but we want to see you become familiar with our programs' various requirements. Look under "English Programs" on our website for information about these three majors.)

Please submit a paper copy of your completed application to Ms. Paulette LaBar in the English Department office by September 15th for the upcoming Spring registration or February 15th for the upcoming Fall registration. The department will contact you within two weeks of the due date.
